LETTER FROM THE CHAIRMAN

Dearest Colleagues and Friends,

We are honored to celebrate YOU and 25 years of making a difference in cancer care!

Thank you for your generous support of Gateway for Cancer Research over the past 25 years. As we recognize this significant milestone, I extend my personal gratitude for your commitment to our vital cause.

The extraordinary courage and tireless dedication of the extended Gateway family, including donors, clinical trial patients, caregivers and researchers is a remarkable testament to the power of our mission.

Gateway's vision is now and always will be to shape a world in which a cancer diagnosis is no longer feared. Gateway funds cutting edge clinical trials that help people living with cancer to feel better, live longer and conquer cancer TODAY!

We are intensely pursuing cures and advance treatment options through innovative early phase research, partnering with brilliant scientists and doctors around the world who are helping those fighting this devastating disease. Your faithful support has enabled Gateway to treat more than 3,000 patients in over 140 clinical trials.

These researchers share our passion for a patient-centric approach to improve quality of life. They, like us, understand that one size does not fit all when it comes to cancer care. Gateway is focused on funding research tailored to the unique needs of each patient, with exciting developments ahead in epigenetics and precision medicine that are poised to revolutionize cancer treatment.

Our work is truly a gateway to hope, connecting renowned researchers to courageous patients...ensuring less struggle and more life!

The importance of our work is as much an imperative today as it was 25 years ago. I founded Gateway following my mother's death from cancer, so, like many of you, this crusade is deeply personal. Together we are giving people facing cancer around the world a reason to believe in a more hopeful and healthful future.

Until cancer is conquered, our mission is not complete, and we are honored to have you join us on this critical journey!

With utmost respect and deepest appreciation,

MESSAGE FROM THE PRESIDENT

Everyone has a cancer story. People we love are diagnosed with cancer and we accompany them on their demanding, often devastating journey. No matter your gender, race, religion, socio-economic status or any other demographic, none of us is immune. We all have been touched by this unforgiving disease. And we are forever changed by the experience.

More than 1.6 million people will be diagnosed with cancer this year. Thanks to research, two-thirds of them can expect to survive. However, we are still losing 500,000 people every year. That's simply not acceptable.

Gateway for Cancer Research is compelled to do something about it.

Right now, Gateway is providing funds to support the research of 55 doctors – more than double the number of clinical trials we funded just two years ago. These doctors have developed hypotheses about new ways to treat cancer. Gateway makes it possible for them to offer integrative new options that help patients to better manage their treatment and feel better. Or combination therapies that help patients live longer. Or immunotherapy approaches that result in tumors melting away. They are all part of our patient-centered approach: to fund meaningful and breakthrough clinical trials worldwide that help people living with cancer to feel better, live longer and conquer cancer TODAY!

Within these pages you'll read about Gateway's activities over the past year...and our impact over the past 25 years. Let me highlight just a few achievements:

- Donors like you contributed $3,247,958! THANK YOU!
- A Gateway funded trial (Cutler, 2013) treating chronic graft vs. host disease (GVHD) with rituximab (a monoclonal antibody), introduced an innovative new way to reduce GVHD. After four years, the treated group's survival rate was significantly better when compared to conventional treatments (71% vs. 56%).
- Researchers created a DNA vaccine targeting a breast cancer antigen which was demonstrated to be safe and to increase patients' immune response. The study also concluded that once patients completed conventional therapies, the vaccine could possibly stimulate the immune system to target and attack remaining or new cancer cells (Gillanders, 2014).
- A Gateway funded study was one of the first to use inhalation therapy to deliver molecular therapy directly to metastatic lung cancer.

We are proud of the research that Gateway has made possible over the past 25 years. And we have so much more to do to realize our Vision of shaping a world in which a cancer diagnosis is no longer feared.

Thank you for being our partner in this journey...on behalf of all the patients, caregivers, family and friends who are counting on us, we appreciate your support and sharing the Gateway commitment to bringing hope and meaningful cures to patients around the globe.

Warm regards,

Teresa Hall Bartels
President
Gateway for Cancer Research

PATIENT IMPACT

SHINING A LIGHT ON DEADLY CANCER

When Wesley McDermott was just six months old, he was diagnosed with Atypical Teratoid Rhabdoid Tumor (AT/RT), a rare brain tumor usually diagnosed in childhood. Within two days of surgery, Wesley's mother Samantha (pictured above) was told her son had brain cancer and given a grim prognosis.

An unbelievably happy little boy, Wesley has a perpetual smile, melting the hearts of even the toughest clinical staff. His smile is his mother's greatest joy. He has spent a substantial amount of his young life at Seattle Children's Hospital, undergoing treatment and joining an innovative Gateway-funded clinical trial led by Dr. Sarah Leary.

Dr. Leary's trial involves the use of a promising new discovery called Tumor Paint. What is Tumor Paint? It is a protein-linked dye made from the venom of an Israeli scorpion that finds and attaches itself to tumor tissue, illuminating the tissue under fluorescent light so surgeons can precisely target the tumor and remove it completely. Tumor Paint may be especially beneficial for patients whose tumor tissue might otherwise be difficult for surgeons to see with the naked eye.

Research findings from the Tumor Paint study are encouraging. Tumor Paint appears to work very well for use in children, and this "molecular flashlight" has the potential to revolutionize the way surgery for tumors is done. Given its early promise, researchers are in the process of planning a larger multi-institutional trial to take Tumor Paint all the way to the FDA, which will be a true first in pediatric brain cancer.

Wesley is a testament to miracles happening every day, and is continuing his courageous fight against cancer. Samantha's dream for the future is for Wesley to be happy, and she refuses to let cancer define their future.

A beautiful, brave little boy, Wesley inspires us to continue our critical mission of finding treatments and cures for cancer, so children like him do not have to face the same difficult struggles. We are honored to be part of Wesley's journey. He is his mother's hero, always. And ours.

CONQUERING CANCER

The 2016 Conquer Cancer Foundation of ASCO/Gateway for Cancer Research Young Investigator Award was presented to Dr. Connie Batlevi in June at the Conquer Cancer Foundation (CCF) Grants and Awards Ceremony in Chicago.

Dr. Batlevi is a researcher at Memorial Sloan Kettering Cancer Center, and is focused on the development of novel therapies for patients with lymphoma. Dr. Batlevi is the recipient of a grant co-funded by Gateway and Conquer Cancer Foundation of ASCO, and will study the safety of CD19 chimeric antigen receptor (CAR) T cells in transplant ineligible patients with diffuse large B cell lymphoma.

Gateway's President, Teresa Hall Bartels, Gateway's Director of Research and Grants, Dr. Domarina Oshana, and Gateway's Midwestern Regional Development Officer, Walter Grandberry attended the award ceremony in June. "We are pleased to award Dr. Batlevi with this prestigious award, recognizing her outstanding commitment to innovative research and helping us conquer cancer," said Teresa Bartels. "We are equally pleased to partner with the Conquer Cancer Foundation. We share a sense of urgency to encourage and support Young Investigators."

IMPACT REPORT

Gateway for Cancer Research invests in the next generation of potential breakthroughs in patient-centric cancer research, driving transformational advances.

Our mission is to fund meaningful and breakthrough clinical trials worldwide that help people living with cancer to feel better, live longer and conquer cancer TODAY! These three strategies anchor the impact of Gateway's research:

1

PATIENTS HAVE A VOICE

2

CANCER PATIENTS FEEL BETTER AND LIVE LONGER

3

PATIENTS CONTRIBUTE TO OVERCOMING CANCER IN THE FUTURE

Breast Cancer: A Gateway funded trial was the first to use the combination of Trastuzumab<sup>v</sup> and HER2/neu-Specific vaccination in patients with metastatic breast cancer. This combination was found to be associated with minimal toxicity and resulted in prolonged, robust, antigen-specific immune responses in treated patients (Disis, 2009<sup>vi</sup>).

Ovarian Cancer: Researchers created an innovative direct delivery of gene therapy to the fluid that surrounds cancerous ovaries with tolerable side effects for patients, which was pioneering for its time and could affect future gene therapy research (Curiel, 2000<sup>ix</sup>).

Sarcoma: Researchers combined the dendritic cell vaccine with a specific radiation therapy to enhance the performance of immune system therapy for sarcoma patients. The findings showed a dramatic increase in T-cell levels within the tumors and 70 percent of patients were progression-free after one year (Gabrilovich, 2012<sup>x</sup>).
